Task2: Write a HTML code to display a poem in its standard format with different paragraph colors.

Exp:

TA PROHM

A stilling heat – the air heavy – and all around the loud, wet forest knotting the gaps in its own sound.

A peace long-earned, then broken; and you, far off in the hospice bed.
Silk- cotton, strangler- fig fastened here on the temple as though it grew down from heaven, was sent to hold in place all this human work. And later, through the house of fire, the fallen galleries, I climbed in blue smoke to where the god sat ringed with incense. And yes, I knelt to her. And yes, I prayed through disbelief. Perhaps now, father, only something old and impossible can save us.

The Poem Love Like Salt BY LISEL MUELLER

It lies in our hands in crystals too intricate to decipher

It goes into the skillet without being given a second th

It breaks out on our foreheads

It spills on the floor so fine we step all over it

We store it inside our bodies in secret wineskins

At supper, we pass it around the table talking of holidays and the sea.
